ANNOUNCEMENT.

WILL TAKE PLACE

Wednesday and Thursday, April 4 and 5.

We offer our sincere thanks to the many thousands of our friends and patrons who have so generously patronized and appreciated our business enterprise during the past six months of our career, and we extend an urgent and hearty invitation to you to favor us with your presence at our spring opening. We desire to state the event will be one of enjoyment and of interest to every one who appreciates the beautiful.

It is with pardonable pride we state that the beauty of our store, enhanced by the most elaborate and artistic floral display, has never been equaled by any house in this city or surpassed by any house in the United States, while a select programme of choice music will make your visit an enjoyable one.

This array of the beautiful is in keeping with our magnificent display of Fashionable Wearing Apparel. Sufficient to state that the foremost manufacturers of our great United States, and also from the fashion centers of London and Paris, are represented in this grand display of correct wearing apparel.

It is our aim to make our house worthy of the best wishes, and of pride to every citizen, for our absolute reliability and sellers of the best merchandise. We sincerely trust you will favor us with your presence at our opening, and we particularly request the presence of ladies.'

She Admits That a Scene Occurred in the Schoolroom, but Says It Was Exaggerated.

Old Orchard is all agog over the row that took place in the Old Orchard Schoolhouse last Friday afternoon between Mrs. Dunwell and Miss Herman, one of the teachers. The trouble is said to have been caused by a whipping which Miss Herman is said to have administered to Mrs. Dunwell's 5-year-old daughter, Bessie, Mrs. Dunwell says that she will lay the matter before the School Board and ask that Miss Herman be removed from her position. From all indications Old Orchard is about to have another row among the members of the School Board parallel to that which made the Old Orchard School Board famous throughout the State when the members attempted to annul the contract that they made with Miss Virginia Saunders, a former principal of the school,

HAPPY SEQUEL TO A FATHER'S SEARCH

Henry Rogers, a Farmer, Follows His Son to the City to Prevent Him Buying "Greengoods."

HIS FEARS PROVE GROUNDLESS

Weeps With Joy When He Learns; His Boy Has Purchased a Ring and Not a "Phony" Fortune for His Bride.

Henry Rogers, an old Pike County farmer who lives near Bowling Green, arrived at Union Station yesterday morning. He was in search of his erring son, he said, and when he found him late in the afternoon he was overjoyed to learn that the boy came to the city on a good errand and that he had wronged him by his suspicions. When the old man got off the train he looked about him in evident bewilderment and anxiety. He glanced hesitatingly around the station with a look of expectancy on his face, and then walked up to one of the guards at the gate and told him that he was looking for his son, who had come to the city on a Sunday afternoon train. He said that the boy was a tall, handsome youth about 22 years old, and that he had light hair and blue eyes, and that he reckoned the guard had seen him. The guard told the old man that many hundreds of people pass through the gate in a day, and that he did not remember having seen his son.

"Well, I guess that you would have remembered him if you had seen him," said the old man, "for he always attracts attention wherever he goes about Bowling

Green. While the old man was talking to the guard he saw a policeman at the other end of the midway and approached him. He told the policeman that his son had received a letter from a "greengoods man," who offered to sell him $2,006 worth of counterfeit money for $200. He said that he had seen the boy reading the circular just be-fore he left home, and that it had been ent to him by a man in St. Louis, whose address or name he did not remember. He said that he meant to bring the circular along with him and show it to the police, but that he had forgotten it in his haste. He said he was sure that his son came to St. Louis to buy the counterfelt money, because he took $200 which he had saved to furnish his house when he got married. "It all comes of his falling in love and wanting to get married," said the old man. "You see, my boy wants to get married to daughter of the deacon of our church, and the deacon won't give his consent to the union until my boy has $2,000. Now, any one can see that the boy came here to will consent to his marrying his daughter. If he does succeed in fooling the deacon am sure that a marriage under such circumstances will not be a happy one."
The policeman told Mr. Rogers that he did not see how he could help him, as he did not know his son, or where to look him He advised the old man to telegraph home for the name and address of the man whom he suspected of trying to sell "greengoods," so that the police could look him up, and perhaps find his son there. This the old man refused to do. He said that he did not want any one at home to knew that his son was trying to buy counterfelt money, and that if he telegraphed some one would be sure to find it out and When he found that he could get no assistance at the station, the old man started out to look for his boy himself. He returned to the station about 4 o'clock in the ed out to look for his boy himself. He returned to the station about 4 o'clock in the afternoon, looking very dejected. He sat down in the corner of the waiting-room and for an hour watched every one who passed Then he went into the lunchroom, and when he had finished eating went out to the Midway and stood against the ralling, looking out on the tracks. While he was standing there a tall, good-looking country lad walked hurriedly through the Eighteenth street entrance to the Midway an approached the Burlington track.

When he got near the gate he saw his father standing there, and he walked up to him with an expression of surprise on his face, siapped him on the shoulder, and, with some anxiety in his voice, said:

"Father, what's wrong? What are you doing here? Is any body ill at home? Are you ill?"

Planting Under Way in the South With Good Prospects-Outlook Promising in Missouri and Illinois.

REPUBLIC SPECIAL Washington, April 2.- The special crop report made public by the Department of Agriculture to-day is as follows: East of the Mississippi River, except in the Southern States, the season has been generally backward and unfavorable for farm work, with excessive rains in portions of the Gulf States and heavy snows in portions of the lake regions and New England. On the Pacific slope and in the Rocky Mountain districts exceptionally favorable conditions have prevailed and farming operations are progressing rapidly.

Unfavorable reports regarding winter wheat continue from Wisconsin, Michigan, Ohio, Pennsylvania, New Jersey and portions of Missouri, Elinois, Indiana, Kentutcky and Maryland; elsewhere the crop looks favorable and enters spring in excellent condition. Outside of a limited area in Southern California, winter wheat on the Pacific coast is well advanced and very promising. Some spring wheat has been sown over the southern portion of the spring wheat region, and also in Montana, where the season is unusually advanced. Corn is being planted in the Southern States, some as far North as North Caro-lina. In Southern Texas the bulk of the crop has been planted.
Outs are being sown in Kansas, Missouri

Ohio and Kentucky and are coming up in good stands in Oklahoma, Texas, Arkansas, Tennessee and Mississippi. Reports of win-ter-killing of the fall crop are received from Virginia and C. Virginia and Georgia. Cotton planting has begun over the southern portion of the cotton region. The pros-pects for fruit are very favorable, although peaches sustained some damage in Missouri, Arkansas, Illinois and Ohio. The soil is in good condition and considerable plowing has been done in all except the more northerly sections, where frost still remains in the ground, and in portions of New Jersey, Maryland, West Virginia, Virginia, Tennessee and North Carolina, where this work has where this work has been delayed by wet

An Obesity Cure From Europe.

Moderation in diet has long been recommended, but never more so than now, and particularly so in conjunction with certain mineral waters, the use of which is strongly advised by medical authorities. For instance, the British Medical Journal goes so far as to say that the efficiency of Apenta, a Hungarian aperient water, for the systematic treatment of obesity is clinically established; a leading Berlin medical journal, speaking of observations made in the famous clinic of Professor Gerhardt at the Charite Hospital, Berlin, says that Apenta produces a reduction of fat in the body without detriment, as the general health of the patient suffers in no wise, the cure running its course in a satisfactory manner. ## VISITORS ASTONISHED.

Spring Opening of Globe Shoe and Clothing Company.

Clothing Company.

Spring opening yesterday at the Globe Shoe and Clothing Company on Seventh street and Franklin avenue brought out a large crowd of shoppers who desired to see and buy the beautiful things the season brought. Of course, the ladies were in the majority, and they thronged the spacious store to its utmost capacity. As the crowd sauntered down the alsies there were many exclamations of surprise at the magnificence of the display.

In the millinery department there was a vision of beauty unsurpassed. Vivid bright colors and much ribbon seem to be the predominating feature of this season's ladies hats. The most striking creation brought from the East is a pretty shape made of tucked chiffon in all the colors of the rainbow. It is called the Hobbs hat. Mr. Joe, the Eastern buyer for the Globe millinery department, said yesterday that this hat was worn by 90 per cent of the ladies in New York City.

One especially beautiful Hobbs hat was made of sage green chiffon, with a spangled crown and a bow knot of the same nue, with a cluster of fruit underneath the brim. There was also a pretty medium-sized hat, designed by Mmc. Pouyanne, in gray, of mousseline and hair braid combined, trimmed with thath fitting jacket and skirt with graduated box pleat. Plaid and revers and patch pockets made to match. There is also a style of Eton jacket made of dove gray Venetia cloth, with high flaring Medici collar, appliqued in white taffeta. Ladies' suits in all leading shades, embroidered in light colored silks, are priced at from $8 to $25. Walking jackets of gray and tan, cut in reefer style, cost from $1.58 to $15. Silk shirt walsts come in all pasted shades with shirt w
